Environmental Program Partnerships

USFS -- Mt. Bachelor recently received a renewal of their 40 year special use permit from the United States Forest Service for operation on the Deschutes National Forest. Both organizations work cooperatively to see the development of the ski area enhances or restores the alpine ecosystem. Environmental education and outreach is a focus of the winter ecology and local school programs.

ONRC -- The Oregon Natural Resources Council participates in our planning process by giving us valuable insight about land use and timber issues. While planning the Northwest Express Chair Lift, we invited their suggestions that ultimately lead to reshaping some runs to minimize visual impact and increase wildlife opportunities.

TRT -- Our long time ally The Recycling Team of Central Oregon continues to help us manage the over 100,000 pounds of recycling we generate every year. Currently we are involved with their WorkSmart program. This opportunity to benchmark our progress so far will help us measure our success and create opportunities for change in the future.

COEC -- Our friends at the Central Oregon Environmental Center participate in our environmental roundtable sessions and act as a local networking outlet for information. They help us know about current issues and local concerns.

EPA -- GreenLights and WasteWi$e programs have given us the opportunity to participate nationally in voluntary reduction initiatives. We also have been recognized by these programs through their awards systems and have benefited greatly from their support

As part of our Partnership in Action with the Deschutes National Forest, we sponsor USFS Naturalist Interpretive Programs.
